FOREIGN LANGUAGE AS AN ESSENTIAL COMPONENT OF SPECIALISTS' PROFESSIONAL ACTIVITY

Today foreign language as a subject is increasingly becoming a language for the profession and is intended to ensure the readiness of future specialists for adaptation and self-determination in the world of new information technologies, for long-life education and personal development. Foreign language is an organic component of such training. The knowledge of it broadens the professional context of specialists, makes their professional field wider due to availability of foreign information. Social order is expressed in the prestige of the knowledge of a foreign language, in the students' priorities, thereby activating the pragmatic aspects of foreign language learning.

The pragmatic approach to the study of foreign languages focuses on the following conceptual principles of language learning:

- determination of learning objective becomes a constitutive factor in the process of profession-oriented foreign language learning;
- analysis of the learners' needs is a starting point in the construction of profession-oriented courses of training the language of profession;
- language variations and registers become the basis for the language of specific context since the analysis of linguistic characteristics of particular professional areas has revealed no significant differences between the language for special purposes and the basic language;
- language for special purposes is described as a «limited language» used in the situations of professional communication, around which a special vocation-oriented course is constructed [2].

Nowadays, English language teaching qualifications and English language can be considered as the main challenges globally in all countries. Teacher qualifications are concerned with English language proficiency and ability to develop his qualifications through engaging himself in successful new developing programs in order to enrich and raise the level of teaching skills. Qualified teacher concludes human qualities of empathy, patience, humility and authority [6].

Today new teacher trends draw as teaching innovations such as philosopher, guide, friend, facilitator, and manager. Teacher education will bridge the inner and outer world. Another new trend is an evaluator teacher who is a new vision of qualifying teacher. Developing any language requires a professional task that is taken by successful people who have a specific set of features. Those professional people, namely teachers, improve themselves through education. Thus improving any language depends on language teachers. Pedagogically the aim of this language is to break down the monotony and lead students to take lively participation in class as one of the successful qualities of a good teacher. The English language is globally used all over the world [4].

Teacher's motivation is an important affective factor in language education. The role of the teacher here is to shift or get with a person to make such choices, to involve in action, to enlarge effort, and continue in action. Positive motivation means language learners' success and learning efficiency, while negative motivation decides defeat in learning a language [5].

The English language opens the main window on the world. It provides information about different progress that happens in the universe. It places at the top of the pyramid since it is used by most cultures. Given its significance, one billion people all over the world bleat it; therefore, in the present's universal world, the successful role of the English language would not be refused and denied. It is important to focus on the material or information that provides this language that is essential, specifically if one wishes to involve in the aspects of life. It is the solution to all problems that human-faced in the modern world. The way people learn English needs constant training and forbearance. As a modern language, it enables learners to train and command language actively to create qualified learners. Globally it is a vehicle of instruction that it is easy to access knowledge. Nowadays it considers the vast and rich message for documenting scientific discoveries. We can become aware that the English language has vital and dominating importance globally. It influences every aspect of human life. Inevitably its significance cannot be avoided since it draws nice and bright touches for present and future perspectives [4].

Researchers are wondering what the amazing qualities of a good English language teacher are:

1. Hopefulness is one of the qualities that inspire students to learn and pick up the English language. It is one of the humanistic features, especially when a learner noticing teachers' hopefulness is crucial as it propels more learning, even when learners feel demotivated themselves.

2. The teacher is only good as his content is. A good English teacher should be fluent. This feature is vital in many ways. A fluent teacher will increase class strength automatically. Most students are eager to listen to a person who speaks fluently and try to imitate him. Fluent teachers are less in number globally, and they have the ability to transmit lectures to learners with better findings.

3. Good correlation with learners. An efficient teacher can establish a good relationship with his class. Trusting relation is essential to students to build a connecting bridge to the productive learning environment. Studies show that teachers who fondly care for their students have a significant effect on the students' motivation and orientation. They will work harder and more successful. So they learn the English language faster and more successful vital skills [1].

4. A good listener. A good listener will gain many friends and fans. Students need to be productive learners. They need to speak, not listen to others. At the same time, teachers focus their attention on listening to students' responses. He begins to become a qualified teacher when he is a long-suffering person.

5. Caring personality. Generally speaking, proficient teachers can establish a mutual relationship with their students. They can tolerate them sensitively, lovely, and warm-heartedness. These positive features of English teacher raise students' learning and development level.

6. Good sense of humor. A proficient and qualified teacher has the ability to teach students with an acceptable sense of humor. He can control his behaviors, attitudes, and emotions. He can keep up with the spirit of humor as much as he could. Psychologically, a sense of humor enables teachers to break down the monotony of the students and make them more energetic [1].

The English language occupies the applicable area in education. English plays a predominant role in the field of education all over the world. It considers a compulsion to learn English as most of the resources of higher education are written in English. So English has been broadly used by students and teachers, and researchers around the world as English is the major medium used in the various fields of education, and it is the only language where the information is stored in the form of encyclopedias, books, and journals in both printed and electronic form [1].

As there have been fast changes in the area of the educational system, the students can make use of the resources available all around the world. Moreover, the learners can learn the contents independently and develop their learning views. Recently, most of the students would favor studying in a foreign country to be in contact with foreign culture to exchange their views, ideas and to acquire a chance for gaining experience through communicating around the world and the English language is a good gain for them. Thus, students of the English language are stimulated to learn this language to promote their educational capabilities in all the areas of the world.
